Nebula No. 584 Shatters Celestial Speed Records

It Is Traveling Twice as Fast as Anything Heavenly Ever Moved Before

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 17.—The nebula, Dreyer, No. 584, in the constellation of Cetus, has broken all known speed records by traveling at a rate of almost 2,000 kilometers a second. This was the word received at the Harvard College Observatory today from Dr. V. M. Slipher, of the Lowell Observatory, Flagstaff, Ariz., in announcing the result of spectrographic observations there.

With this velocity Dreyer, No. 584, is showing its starry heels to the rest of the universe at a rate of speed almost twice as fast as the highest velocity previously known.

Professor Solon I. Bailey, of the Harvard Observatory, said most of the stars move through the heavens at less than 100 kilometers a second; runaway stars have been known to gain momentum of a few hundred kilometers a second, and other objects have been found to go as fast as 1,000 kilometers a second.

The highest celestial speed previously recorded was by another nebula and was only 1,180 kilometers a second, the Harvard scientist said.

The nebula, which is so faint that it is not visible to the eye, flashes across the lower southern sky in the early evening.

The Powell Art Gallery is showing an exhibition of the work of modern painters, including the work of the late Sidney E. Dickinson and Constance Curtis are among the artists whose work is hung. In spite of rather crowded conditions, the pictures can be studied to fair advantage. A group of paintings by Adelaide Lawson represents the artist's conception of certain scenes in Spain. Albert Groll's subjects are for the most part confined to scenes in New Mexico. Grace E. McKinstry has found her expression through portraits of Indians. "The Butterfly," by Christine Herter, is a decorative portrait. This exhibition will continue throughout the month.

Wilson Puts America in League Immigration Body

President Makes R. B. Mahany Delegate to Conference Set for Geneva

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Rowland B. Mahany, solicitor of the Department of Labor, has been appointed by President Wilson as American representative on the International Commission of Immigration and Emigration to meet at Geneva on a date to be fixed by the International Labor office of the League of Nations.

This is the first appointment the President has made to any of the bodies meeting under the League of Nations since the Senate definitely and finally refused to ratify the Treaty of Versailles.

Eighteen nations will take part in the conference, the first of its kind ever to be held. Six will send delegates representing labor, six representing capital and six representing the governments. The American Federation of Labor considered it inadvisable that the United States be represented by any other than governmental delegates.

Mr. Mahany, who was Minister to Ecuador, was for four years a member of the Immigration Commission in Congress and the work of the immigration section of the Department of Labor has been under his care.

Governor Ignores Ford Protest and Reappoints Page

Miller Designates New York Man for Appellate Court Bench; Clark and Merrill Also Retain Their Posts

ALBANY, Jan. 17.—Governor Miller today redesignated Justice Alfred R. Page, of the Supreme Court, 1st District, a member of the Appellate Division, First Department of the Court.

In a letter received by the Governor today Justice Ford asked the Executive, who was once a judge of the Court of Appeals, not to redesignate Justice Page. Justice Ford charged that Justice Page had become the exponent of the reprehensible practice of discrimination among justices of the Supreme Court.

When Governor Miller announced the designation of Justice Page, he was asked if he had any comment to make on Justice Ford's letter.

"I have redesignated Mr. Page," was the Governor's reply.

"Then that is your answer?" he was asked.

"Yes," said the Governor.

Governor Miller also announced the reappointment of John H. Clark, of New York, as member of the State Civil Service Commission, for a term of six years at $5,000 a year. Commissioner Clark is the only Republican on the commission.

The Governor also appointed Tax Commissioner John J. Merrill a member of the State Tax Commission for a term of six years at $5,000 a year. Commissioner Merrill is a Republican and has been connected with the Tax Commission for several years.

Henry Doremus, Reform Mayor of Newark, Is Dead

Was First to Get Relief Train Started for San Francisco at Time of Earthquake; Held Services Thursday

Henry M. Doremus, who as Mayor of Newark in 1906 was the first to get a relief train under way to aid victims of the San Francisco earthquake, died Sunday afternoon at his home, 234 Mount Prospect Avenue, Newark. He was born at Jacksonville, N. J., May 23, 1851, and was descended from a family of early New Jersey settlers, who came from Zeeland, Holland.

As Mayor of Newark Mr. Doremus was responsible for many reforms that won for him wide popular respect and friendship. He broke up an insurance ring, made possible the purification of the Passaic River, instituted the shade law, abolished the city hawk, incorrigible girls and laid the foundation of the city's extensive playground system, fought to abolish grade crossings and was responsible for starting much of the welfare work of which Newark boasts today.

Before being elected Mayor Mr. Doremus was Sheriff for three years, from 1890 to 1893, and in the '70s in Democratic politics, but later after joined the Republican party. In 1884 he was elected to the Legislature and served two terms. He attended the National Republican convention of 1888, when Benjamin Harrison was nominated for the Presidency, and continuing to the convention in Chicago last year.

He was treasurer of the Franklin Savings Bank, director of the Fidelity Trust Company and the North Ward National Bank and vice-president of the North Jersey and Hudson River Traction Company. He was past master of the Northern Lodge, F. and A. M., a member of the Sons of the American Revolution and the North End Club.

Funeral services will be held today at the home, conducted by the Rev. Dr. Pleasant Hunter, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, of which Mr. Doremus had long been a member. At Fairmount Cemetery will be in charge of the Rev. Dr. A. Edwin Keigwin, pastor of the West End Presbyterian Church, Manhattan, and former pastor of the Park Presbyterian Church, Newark.

Mrs. Cyrus McCormick Dies in Chicago Hospital

CHICAGO, Jan. 17.—Mrs. Harriet Hammond McCormick, Chicago society leader and the wife of Cyrus Hall McCormick, chairman of the board of directors of the International Harvester Company, died at St. Lukes Hospital here early today after a brief illness. Complications believed to have resulted from an operation performed several years ago caused her removal to the hospital early in the year.

Saturday Mr. McCormick, who was in New York on business, and Gordon, a younger son, who is a student at Princeton, were summoned.

Mr. McCormick, receiving more alarming reports of his wife's condition, left for Chicago this morning, and reached her bedside before her death. The son, however, failed to reach her before his mother died.

Mrs. McCormick died at the age of 75 years, was born in England, but was brought to Chicago at an early age by an aunt, Mrs. Edward Stickney, wife of one of the pioneer magnates of the Chicago stockyards.

One of the most notable of the many benefactions of Mrs. McCormick was the establishment of the Elizabeth McCormick Memorial Endowment Fund, founded in 1906 for the purpose of improving the conditions of child life in the United States. More than 1,000 committees are said to have been formed from this fund, and in memory of her only daughter, who died in 1905 at the age of twelve.

Cyrus McCormick Jr. and Gordon are the only children.

Colonel Heman Page Smith, Civil War veteran, died unexpectedly at his home, 81 First Avenue, Brooklyn, Saturday night. He was seated with members of his family when he complained of a pain in his chest and died almost immediately.

Colonel Smith served as a first lieutenant in a regiment of heavy artillery from Maine, and was in command when it went into the Battle of Petersburg 800 strong and came out with only 200.

He was badly wounded in that battle, spending a year in a hospital. He had been superintendent of the Sunday school at the Park Slope Congregational Church for thirty years and was a past commander of the U. S. Grant Post, 327, G. A. R. He is survived by a son and four grandchildren.

HUGH N. CAMP

Hugh N. Camp, vice-president and treasurer of the St. Joseph Lead Company, died early yesterday morning at his residence, 150 West Fifty-ninth Street. Mr. Camp was a member of the Union League, Racquet, Recce, Kings, Hudson and Seabright Beach clubs and a veteran of Company K, 7th Regiment.

He was born in New York City on November 13, 1867, a son of the late Hugh N. and Elizabeth McKesson Camp. He married Candace E. Quinby, daughter of Henry B. Quinby, former Governor of New Hampshire. She survives him. He also is survived by one son, Hugh N. Camp, Jr., and a daughter, and John Camp. Funeral services will be held at St. Bartholomew's Chapel at 10 a. m. Wednesday.

RICHARD DORNEY

Richard Dorney, well known in his time as a theatrical manager, died Sunday at his home, 1816 Harrison Avenue, the Bronx.

Mr. Dorney, who was more than seventy years old, associated himself with Augustin Daly in 1867, became his business manager, and so continued until Daly's death in June, 1889. There he became Adia Rehan's manager, later becoming in the same capacity for James K. Hackett.

Mr. Dorney is survived by his second wife, his funeral will be tomorrow at his residence next Wednesday. There will be a requiem high mass at the Church of the Holy Spirit, Burnside and University avenues, the Bronx.

HENRY M. HAVILAND

Henry M. Haviland, former postmaster at Jamaica, Queens, died yesterday at his home, 144 West 104th Street. Mr. Haviland, who was sixty-eight years old, had been under treatment in a New York institution until recently, when he was sent to the Kings County Hospital.

He is survived by his wife, a son and a daughter. Funeral services will be held this afternoon at Jamaica, the Rev. Andrew McGill, of the Presbyterian Church, officiating. Interment will be in Prospect Cemetery.

JOHN C. B. MORLEY

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 17.—John C. B. Morley, Philadelphia and New York real estate broker, died here today. He had been suffering from heart disease for about six months. Mr. Morley was named American Consul at St. Pierre, Canada, in 1891 by President Harrison and served in that capacity for two years.

Justice F. M. Calder Dies While Seated on Bench

Apoplexy Is Fatal to Newly Elected Jurist as Attorneys Argue Case

UTICA, N. Y., Jan. 17.—Frederick M. Calder, who assumed his duties as Justice of the Supreme Court of the Fifth Judicial District January 1, following his election in November, fell dead while presiding in court here late this afternoon.

Death came without warning. Attorneys were questioning jurors when a choking sound from the bench attracted attention. Justice Calder had slumped down in his chair and before the attorneys reached him he was dead. Cerebral apoplexy was the cause, physicians said.

Judge Calder was fifty-nine years old. He was graduated from Hamilton College in 1882 and was admitted to the bar two years later. He served as Corporation Counsel of Utica in 1892 and for twelve years was Surrogate of Oneida County.

Intimidation Prohibited By Head of Ku-Klux Klan

Reward Offered for Conviction of Any Person Using Name Without Sanction

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 17.—A reward of $100 was offered to-night by Colonel William J. Simmons, Imperial Wizard of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, for the arrest and conviction of "any person, anywhere, who attempts to intimidate or threaten any member of the Ku Klux Klan in an unlawful manner or in connection with any purpose or movement not sanctioned by law."

Colonel Simmons referred to reports of persons attempting to intimidate both whites and negroes by posing as members of the organization, and said: "The Ku Klux Klan positively does not sanction lawlessness in any form. It is not to be used as an agency of wrong or injustice. If any member has so far forgotten his oath as to lend himself to any movement that interferes with the right of any person of any color to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, and if his identity becomes known, will be immediately banished from the Ku Klux Klan."

Geese Will Race To-day

Girls to Drive Birds in Poultry Show Opening Feature

The main feature of the Poultry Show, which opens this morning at Madison Square Garden, will be a goose race, a novelty borrowed from European countries. The participants in the race, other than the geese, will be showgirls serving as drivers. The course will be two blocks on Madison Avenue, ending at the main entrance to the Garden. These streets will be kept clear of traffic for the race, which will start at 10 o'clock. The winner will receive a silver cup, and there will be prizes for the next four of the eighteen contestants to finish.

This is the thirty-second annual exhibition of poultry, water fowl, pigeons and rabbits. There are more than 15,000 exhibits. The show will close Saturday night.

Girls Sold for Wives

U. S. Official Says Armenians Are Marriage Slaves in West

FRESNO, Calif., Jan. 17.—The arrest of seven Armenian girls and a prominent Armenian rancher of Lone Star, near here, revealed today, according to George W. Moore, United States Immigration Commissioner, a plot by which Armenian girls are brought into the United States and sold to the highest bidder.

Moore, who has been working on the case for several months, said in one instance a young Armenian inspected the girls and selected one, paid a deposit on one who pleased him. The Commissioner said the case was typical of many in which the girls were made marriage slaves.
